

Ancient Egypt and Western Asia: archaeology, history and languages is a two-year graduate degree that offers advanced courses of study in the languages, cultures, archaeology and history of ancient Egypt and Western Asia.

INFORMATION

For scientific enquiries, please contact Prof. Marilina Betrò, Chair of the Master's degree course Ancient Egypt and Western Asia: archaeology, history and languages, marilina.betro@unipi.it

For enrolling and administrative enquiries, please contact Dr. Federico Nobili, technical-administrative staff, federico.nobili@unipi.it

ANCIENT EGYPT AND WESTERN ASIA:
archaeology, history and languages

Department of Civilizations and Forms of Knowledge, University of Pisa

Via Trieste, 40 - 56126 Pisa, Italy

Master's Degree Course
Academic Year 2022-2023

ANCIENT EGYPT AND WESTERN ASIA: archaeology, history and languages

Why study at the University of Pisa?

The tradition of Oriental and Egyptological studies at the University of Pisa is one of the oldest in Europe. A legacy that is still cherished through various archaeological excavation projects, several research activities in collaboration with international institutes and museums, and prestigious international publications.

The MA programme includes teaching in history, archaeology, culture and languages of ancient and late Egypt and Western Asia (ranging from philology to museology, from history of religions to material culture).

The historical and archaeological areas of interest include Egypt, Anatolia, the Levant, Syria, Iraq, Iran, Arabia, India, Uzbekistan and Xinjiang. The languages range from ancient Egyptian to Akkadian, Hittite, Ugaritic, Syriac, Middle Iranian languages and Sanskrit.

Off-site classes and excavations

The numerous excavation projects in the areas covered by the MA course, together with off-site lectures, also give students the opportunity to supplement their theoretical training with field experiences.

